portal 2 trivia

BEWARE FOR SPOILERS

Originally chell hitting the moon with her portal gun to save her self was not the original use of the moon it was first put in as a easter egg that could access relatively early in the game or if you portaled there its that event a word? you would die instantly and a mini end credits song would play saying all the wonderful achievements you did mainly just dieing on the moon but most if not all play testers found the secret but the developers still wanted to use the moon in some

During a story board meeting one day at valve the writers came up with the question how far could the portal gun shoot? And they thought well it wouldnt really have an ending would it? It would just keep going thats when they got the idea of the moon get and the ending of the game

There are several half life references in portal 2 such as you can find the docking bay to the borealis in the area where you first here the recorded messages of cave johnson

If you payed close attention to the videos at the end of test chambers playing on the walls near the elevator you might of noticed this guy here as you might know aperture is a place of no religion or morals its all about the science and they plan to keep the facility running with at such as glades long after humans are gone and just in case there is a said animal King in the future they aperture made this to show they are for the all mighty animal king so the king would not mess with there facility

BONUS PORTAL LOLZ

PORTAL

Do not think of how it works. Just do it.

This is also something I want to adress
